

Power SOLUTIONS

HATCH LIDS

Available in a variety of options and materials

WallGoldfinger custom makes its power and data boxes, providing flexibility in achieving both your technology and design needs. Boxes are available with a variety of hatch lid materials, including veneer, metal, glass and stone. WallGoldfinger additionally works with specified commercially made boxes, providing cutouts for drop in units or putting these pre-made boxes in the table subtop and providing a custom hatch lid to match the tabletop or tech band material.

APRON POWER

Available in a variety of options

For a pristine tabletop or to make way for other technology such as monitors and microphones, WallGoldfinger puts power and data units in table aprons. A variety of units are available depending on technology needs. Units can be flush with a square apron, recessed into a beveled apron or stand alone with no apron at all for a reduced price point. In selecting units and integrating them into a table's design, consideration is given to ADA compliance.

APRON POWER WITH RETRACTABLE LIDS

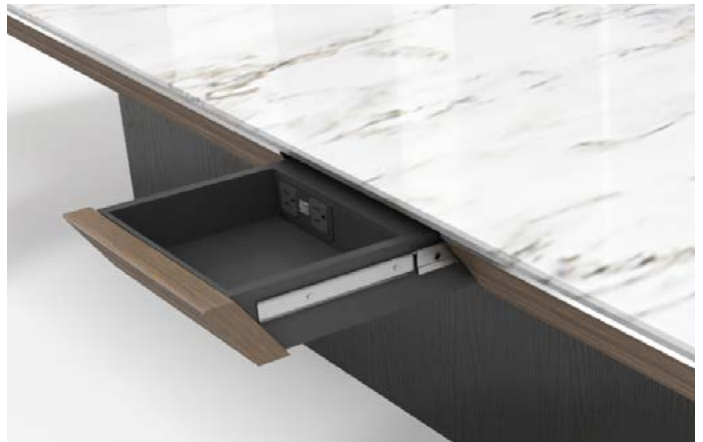

An exclusive WallGoldfinger design

This exclusive WallGoldfinger design adds a lid to cover your apron power for a cleaner look when not in use. To access the power and data unit, the lid easily lifts and manually retracts into the table, exposing the unit. The lid can then be pulled back out and lowered to cover the unit when once again no longer in use. Take a closer look at this design in WallGoldfinger's video animation of this one-of-a-kind design. ▶

POWER DRAWERS

Available in a variety of profiles

Power drawers bring all the components of previously described technology into one. WallGoldfinger custom makes drawers to meet client's needs and also uses commercially available drawers. Drawers are located in the apron for a cleaner tabletop and drawers hide power and data from view. And like with all power and data options, the WallGoldfinger team is striving to work with designers and AV companies to make choices that are ADA compliant. Put WallGoldfinger's unique expertise to work for you.